4. Conclusion

To conclude , we observed the change in accelerations using the difference between masses. Adhering to Newton's 2nd law, we compared the difference between a theoretical experiment and a practical experiment and found the margin of error. We graphically expressed the acceleration values occurred in the experiment using the LoggerLite program.